RESIDENTIAL CRAWLSPACE BROCHURE

Intech Anchoring Systems is proud to be the manufacturer of the Hydraway Drainage System[®], an advanced subsurface drainage solution. This system is comprised of a structured high-density polyethylene (HDPE) perforated core that is thermally fused to a geotextile filter fabric. The cutting-edge fabric enables water to pass through while preserving the surrounding backfill materials, and the perforated core facilitates water collection from all directions, ensuring a continuous flow path.

HYDRAWAY

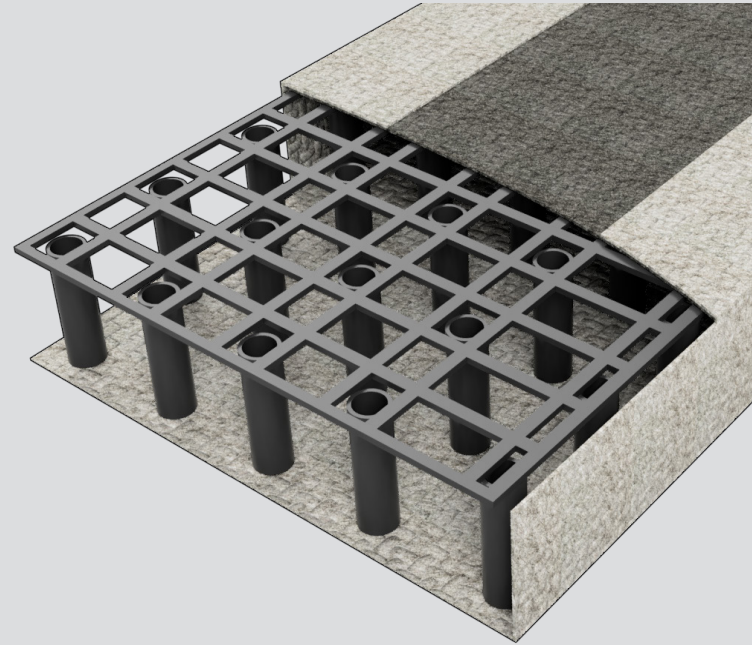

Hydraway: Hydraway is a flat strip drainage solution that has been proven to last longer and perform better than traditional drainage systems.

Our system features the industry's highest in-flow rate and compressive strength, removes water 70% faster than traditional systems, and has a proven track record for a dependable, long life. With no known product failures when installed correctly and significant labor and maintenance savings, it's easy to see why Hydraway is leading the industry in drainage solutions.

THREATS TO THE HOME

- Standing Water: Unventilated crawlspaces are more likely to collect water. The trapped moisture creates a toxic environment that fosters the growth of mold, mildew, and harmful bacteria.
- The Stack Effect: Because there's no way for standing water to leave a neglected crawlspace, it evaporates and spreads fumes throughout the home and microscopic spores and allergens are spread inside. This becomes a health hazard to anyone in the house.
- Structural cracks: Over time, the moisture accumulated within the crawlspace damages the surrounding walls, weakening the foundation and causing widespread leaks.
